

Washington English Journal

The Washington English Journal is calling for submissions for a new journal series. Please submit lesson plans for the teaching of language arts K-16, teaching tools and book reviews, poetry, and letters to the editor.

*For the May issue of the WEJ, the editors are particularly interested in personal narratives about teaching and reflections on why we chose to teach and continue with that choice. Humor and epiphanies are especially appreciated.

Submissions due: January 15
Please e-mail questions and submissions to waenglishjournal@wscte.org

Editors: Toni Culjak and John Trombold